About This Site

The mission of the Library of Congress is to make its resources available and useful to the Congress and the American people. The mission of the Library of Congress Cataloging Distribution Service (LC CDS) is to serve the information needs of the Library of Congress and its national and international constituencies by developing and marketing products and services which provide access to Library of Congress cataloging, classification, subject headings, and other cataloging resources.

Through this site LC CDS is offering World Wide Web access to Library of Congress classification, subject headings, and bibliographic data. Your use of this Web site is governed by your Classification Web Agreement with LC CDS.

Security

For site security and to ensure that this service remains available to all users, the Government computer server employs software programs to monitor network traffic to identify unauthorized attempts to upload or change information, deny service, otherwise cause damage, or access non-public information. Unauthorized attempts to upload information or change information are strictly prohibited and may be punishable under the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act of 1986 (18 U.S.C. § 1001 note) and the National Information Infrastructure Protection Act of 1996 (18 U.S.C. § 1030). Information regarding possible violations of law may be provided to law enforcement officials.

Privacy

For site management, this Government computer server uses software programs to create summary statistics that are used for such purposes as assessing information that is of most or least interest, determining technical design specifications, and identifying system performance areas.

The Server collects and stores the following information:

- The Internet Protocol (IP) address and name of the domain from which the Subscriber or Authorized User accesses the Internet.
- The date and time the Subscriber or Authorized User accesses the Server.
- The pages perused and files accessed.
- The type of browser used and its version information.
- The Internet address of the Web site from which the subscriber is linked directly to the Server.

If the Subscriber or Authorized User chooses to provide additional personal information, as in an e-mail message, the Publisher will use the information to respond to that request. There may be occasions when e-mail will be forwarded within the Publisher's organization to employees who are better able to provide assistance.

Except for the foregoing exception and for authorized law enforcement activities, the Publisher will not share Subscriber personal data, e-mail, or survey data with outside organizations without obtaining the Subscriber or Authorized User's permission.

Cookies

"Cookies" are small bits of text (letters and numbers) that identify your computer. They are either assigned to you for the duration of one online session (temporary cookies), or are saved on your computer for future sessions (permanent cookies) to identify you (or information about you) the next time you log on to a Web site. This site only uses cookies in areas of the site that require users to log in. In those areas of the site, a permanent cookie will identify you for the duration of your session and be deleted when you log out. If you neglect to log out and let your session expire, this cookie will be stored on your computer until it is replaced the next time you attempt to log in. You also have the option of having a permanent cookie stored on your computer that will contain the name you last used to log into this site. This cookie is for your convenience only and can be deleted the next time you log in.

Restrictions on Access and Use

Restrictions on Access and Use are governed by your Classification Web Agreement with LC CDS.

Copyright

The classification, subject headings, and bibliographic records in Classification Web that originate with the Library of Congress are copyrighted, except within the USA. The software used to create this site is provided under a license agreement between Minaret Corporation and LC CDS.

It is your obligation to determine and satisfy copyright or other use restrictions when publishing or otherwise distributing material found on this site. Transmission or reproduction of protected items requires the written permission of the copyright owners. You must make your own assessments of rights in light of the use you intend to make. More information about U.S. Copyright law (Title 17 U.S. Code) is provided by the Copyright Office.

Applicable Law

Activity on this Web site is governed by the federal law of the United States, and any claims arising out of or in connection with your use of this site will be subject to the jurisdiction of the U.S. federal courts. Liability for injuries you sustain in connection with your use of this Web site will be determined in accordance with the Tucker Act of 1887 (28 U.S.C. §§ 1346(a), 1491), the Federal Tort Claims Act of 1946 (28 U.S.C. §§ 1346(b), 2674), and any other applicable Act of Congress.

Disclaimer of Endorsement

An LC CDS Web site may have links to the sites of other federal agencies or other organizations when there is a business reason to do so. This linking does not constitute endorsement of the content of those Web sites or of the agencies or organizations' policies or products.
